

“She makes me work hard sometimes, but we get through things together,” said Mackenzie Taylor of “Inky.”

American pair to ever win the title. This year Mackenzie plans to defend her title at the championship in Denmark.

Mackenzie and Inky spent several months this spring training and competing in England. Mackenzie had to return to the United States for a few weeks to treat an ankle injury, but they quickly got back on track.

“I plan to be doing it for a really long time, and I don’t think she’ll ever stop,” said Mackenzie.

In addition to Inky, her dam, Georgie, also lives at TaylorMade under the ownership of one of the Taylors’ clients.

“We love these stories because Inky’s getting a lot of attention,” said Robertson. “[They are] really helping to dispel the myth that horses that end up at rescues are unsafe or incapable of doing extraordinary things. They clearly can go above and beyond and be amazing animals in another career.”
